Chips

It's back to the bushes for us, boys. Still eight games in our football season after the committee studied it for weeks, and still time to prepare for the arduous schedule ahead.

We still play our friends in town, American University and Catholic U., and we still encounter the City College of New York and William and Mary. And then, the changes begin. We trade in Fordham, Lafayette, Penn State, and St. Francis on Dickinson, Juniata, St. Joseph, and one opponent yet to be named.

Seems as if we are getting back to pre-war normalcy.

It's open season for innocent freshmen now, with clusters of mysterious men with matched pins grouped here and there around the corridors in Corcoran Hall. Now and then they nudge each other, and one dashes off to say, "Pardon me, my name's Rush, and I'm a sophomore here. Are you a new man in school?"

The respective scores of the fraternities on the campus will be announced in the next issue of this journal, we understand.

George Washington will draw another million dollars this time in publicity—when President Coolidge addresses the graduates at the Mid-Winter Convocation, with the speech going out all over the country by means of radio.

The University is coming, as we have said before, to be more and more of a national university, the dream of the man after whom it is named, and the fulfillment of a great need in the Nation's Capital.

Not that we want to take any credit for the President's coming speech, but he has been on The Hatchet mailing list all year, and maybe has even read our stuff. Who knows?

They tell us that the local S. A. E.'s descended en masse on their brethren at Gettysburg, where they were invited for a dance, making up a caravan of six cars carrying 22 men and 12 dates. The ten stags monopolized the Pennsylvanians' drags to such an extent that the last number played by the orchestra was, "Somebody Stole My Gal."

And another fraternity has reverted to the kindergarten stage, and is making traced silhouettes of its members to hang on the walls between shingles, paddles, and pennants.

Our basketball quint is still under the impression that the football season is not yet over. Four losses in four starts show an inherited tendency which must be overcome. Well, there are more games to come, and besides, the freshmen are winning consistently, and next year—

Even the debaters seem to be influenced by the epidemic, for they too have lost twice in two tries. We bet that it all happened because somebody failed to resolve on January 1 to turn over a new leaf in so far as intercollegiate competition in every branch is concerned.

Well, the first spasm of the beauty contest is over, and the winner of the popularity part of the race is decided. Now the photos go to a noted artist to see whether or not so far as beauty is concerned if such popularity is deserved.

Argentine educators touring the country pause to look over G. W. and its manners and customs. It is just a further evidence of what we opined in paragraph six.

Our Greeks on the campus will be haunting the alleys near the University soon, all on account of a cup offered for the unlucky goats of some lucky fraternity to polish.

Isn't it almost time for the sorority bridge tournament?
DICK ROLLO.

COLUMBIAN LUNCHEON ADDRESSED BY WILBUR

An address by Provost William Allen Wilbur was the feature of the Columbian College Luncheon given for the Alumni of George Washington University at the Hotel Lafayette, Saturday, January 26. Provost Wilbur spoke on "Hostages to Fortunes."

The luncheon has been planned particularly for Alumni of Columbian College, the College of Liberal Arts, of which Dr. Wilbur, prior to becoming Provost of the University last October, was for twenty-four years the Dean.

CHRISTY WILL BE JUDGE OF BEAUTY

GIRLS TO BE INTERVIEWED

Compulsory Meeting of Cherry Tree Board and Staff Staged for February 15

Howard Chandler Christy, the well-known portrait painter, has consented to select in person the six most beautiful girls from the winning twelve of the Cherry Tree Beauty Contest. Hermione John has received the largest number of popular votes at the University, members of the Cherry Tree Board announce.

Girls of the final twelve according to the number of their subscription votes are, Hermione John, Gamma Beta Pi; Helen Taylor, Pi Beta Phi; Alice Walford, Chi Omega; Leona Myers, Zeta Tau Alpha; Margaret Rees, Alpha Beta Phi; Eleanor Daniel, Pi Beta Phi; Mary Crowley, Kappa Delta; Sally Ferguson, Alpha Delta Pi; Billie Wright, Sigma Kappa; Louise Berryman, Pi Beta Phi; Eugene Le Merle, Alpha Delta Pi; and Mary Lewis Beard, Alpha Delta Theta.

A personal interview during the last part of February will bring to a close the competition. Mr. Christy declined to choose the six from photographs for fear of "judging merely the photographer's art instead of the real beauty and personality of the contestants."

John Gilbert, James Montgomery Flagg, and Harrison Fisher had consented to judge from pictures; but the personal selection plan of Mr. Christy appealed to the Cherry Tree Board.

Sororities selling the greatest number of subscriptions for the annual are, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Delta Pi, Gamma Beta Pi, Chi Omega, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Sigma Kappa.

There will be a general meeting of the board and staff on February 15. Attendance is compulsory.

The last possible date on which pictures can be taken at Edmonston's is February 19, the Board announces.

Torrid Issue of Ghost Announced By Editors

Rowland Lyon To Edit Number of Magazine Appearing on Campus in Near Future

The Tropical Number of the Ghost will appear on the campus sometime in the near future, Rowland Lyon, member of the Board of Editors, who will edit this issue in the absence of the Editor-in-Chief, William Brawner, announced recently.

The special features of the Tropical Number include Torrid Topics, containing inside information on the activities of several faculty members during a mythical vacation in the tropics, and an examination, with questions and answers, written exclusively for the faculty.

The Timely Topics section by William Dove Thompson, spicy exchanges, the usual clever poetry, among which will be two poems by Peggy Somerville, an editorial on the fate of the Ghost, and a full page cartoon by Betty Bunten will complete the issue. The cover is in four colors, and has been designed by Rowland Lyon.

Applications for positions on the Ghost staff should be filed with Dean Doyle's secretary, and all students who wish to submit literary or art contributions should place them in the Ghost box in Lisher Hall, according to the Board of Editors.

G. W. VARSITY LOSES TO M. I. T. IN HOT DEBATE

Local Men Debaters Experience Second Successive Defeat Of Season

AMERICAN U. ALSO DEFEATS G. W. TEAM

Duncan, Frisbie and Howard Defend Public Ownership of Hydro-electric Power

Defeat for the second successive time by the unanimous decision of the judges was the bitter experience of the varsity men's debate team of George Washington University last Saturday evening, February 2, when they were invaded by the crack debaters of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Sol Horwitz, Thomas Mackesy and Paul Keyser, of the visiting team, left no doubt in the minds of the three judges of the debate and the audience that listened to them in Corcoran Hall that they were well prepared to argue on the subject of the night. They were also polished speakers and were able to present their arguments in a convincing manner.

The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, That the public should retain the ownership of and develop the principal sources of hydro-electric power in the United States."

G. W. Makes Good Showing

Hearst R. Duncan, Karl Frisbie and Andrew Howard, who composed the defeated team, made stirring arguments in favor of government ownership. Duncan and Howard, new members of the varsity team, debated for the first time last Saturday evening.

Just before the semestral examinations, January 19, the varsity team, composed of John L. Seymour, Douglas Hatch, and John F. Jackson, invaded the American University campus. They were defeated unanimously by the Methodists.

The subject of the George Washington-American debate was: "Resolved, That the principle of complete freedom of speech and press upon political and economic questions is sound."

G. W. Takes Affirmative

In the debate with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the local team supported the affirmative side. The G. W. men maintained that natural resources are the heritage of the people and that it is only logical that the people should control them. They also emphasized the waste and greed that have resulted from private control of our natural resources and cited many instances to bear out this contention.

The M. I. T. men contended that the National Government is incapable of exploiting our resources; that it would be more economical to leave the development of hydro-electric power to private concerns; and that for the government to operate in the industrial field would be politically unsound. The negative had many specific cases to substantiate their arguments.

Council Delegates Get Interfrat Prom Tickets

Delta Tau Delta Hosts to Meeting; Prom Details Completed; Interfraternity Golf Adopted

Tickets for the Interfraternity Prom, which will be held at the Willard Hotel on Friday, March 22, from ten until two, were given to the delegates to the Council at a meeting held Sunday morning at the Delta Tau Delta House. Indications point to an early sell out, the committee believes.

The Prom which is always one of the big social events of the school year will be even more so this year in view of the fact that the Junior and Senior Proms have apparently passed into the discard.

The music which will be announced next week will be furnished by a well known New York orchestra and promises many new features unknown to this part of the country.

The favors which will be for both men and women have been selected, but will not be known until the night of the Prom.

A modified track meet to take the place of the Relay Race was passed as was a resolution adopting golf as an interfraternity sport.

The Council endorsed a resolution to support the Alumni Endowment Fund and urged upon each of its members the suitability of signing a pledge upon graduation as this alone would be invaluable in establishing the Fund upon a firm and lasting foundation.

The Council will sponsor a Tea Dance on Washington's Birthday, February 22, from four until seven, in Corcoran Hall, at customary tax of one dollar, couple or stag.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE WILL BE SPEAKER AT WINTER CONVOCATION

PROMINENT ASSEMBLAGE WILL WATCH FEBRUARY GRADUATES GET DIPLOMAS

Honorary Doctor's Degree to Go to President; Program to be Broadcast Over Radio Network; All Departments of University May be Represented in Academic Profession

President Calvin Coolidge is to be the principal speaker at the Mid-Winter Convocation of George Washington University. The Chief Executive will also receive an honorary doctor's degree from the University.

Invitations to be present will be extended to members of the Cabinet and the Diplomatic Corps, to members of Congress, and to many of the prominent officers of the Army and Navy stationed here.

GRID LIST FOR '29 JUST ANNOUNCED

Colonials Drop Lafayette, Penn State, and Fordham From Schedule

EIGHTEEN GET LETTERS

St. Joseph's, Juniata, and Dickinson Added to List of Opponents

As a result of the exceptionally poor season experienced by the George Washington football team last fall, a much easier schedule has been arranged for the 1929 eleven by Coach H. Watson Crum, Director of Athletics in the University. In announcing the list of games, Coach Crum pointed out that it would be unwise to attempt to continue to play the class of teams encountered by the Hatchettes in 1928 if any degree of success is desired. The material available for varsity football at G. W. can hardly measure up to the standards of first-class teams, and in the future only opponents of equal caliber will be scheduled.

If the school wishes to enjoy its share of victories, which Coach Crum is sure it does, it will be far better to arrange to meet teams in its own class, rather than plan some big college team for only the sake of playing.

It is for this reason that three of the major teams met by the 1928 Colonials have been dropped from this year's schedule. Fordham and Penn State, which have met G. W. teams for the past two years, are not found on this year's schedule, and Lafayette, which was met for the first time in 1928, has likewise disappeared.

Four Old Teams To Be Met Again

However, four of the teams met in 1928 will again be played this year. American University, which was the only eleven to succumb to the luckless G. W. team last fall, will be met in the first scheduled game here on October 12. The City College of New York will also be played again this year at New York City.

The College of William and Mary which came here last year for a game, will be met at Williamsburg this year in a return contest. The Indians took the long end of a 25-0 count last year.

Three new opponents, however, appear on this year's list. On October 19, the Colonials will journey to Carlisle, Pa., where they will meet the Dickinson College eleven. The remaining two newcomers will be met in the Hatchettes' own back yard at Central High Stadium. After being away for three week-ends, the Crummen will play the first of their last three home games here against St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia on November 9. The following week, Juniata College will invade the Capital for a game with the Colonials which will be the last game for the Buff and Blue until the annual Turkey Day clash with the Catholic University Cardinals.

Award Made

The Hatchet is glad to receive any announcements of social affairs of individuals or organizations for publication in this column. They may be mailed to the Hatchet in care of the University or may be taken to the Hatchet Office, and will be printed if received not later than 6 o'clock on Friday evening prior to the date of issue.

According to the custom of long standing, convocation, will be on Washington's Birthday, February 22. It is to be held this year in the Washington Auditorium, beginning at 8 p. m.

Announcement has been made that the program will be broadcast so as to be audible throughout the United States and Southern Canada.

Degrees will be conferred upon about 100 graduates of the University. The academic procession will include those who completed their requirements for degrees in October, 1928, as well as in February, 1929, graduates.

According to present plans, all schools and departments of the University, with the possible exception of the Medical School, will be represented in the procession.

Several honorary degrees in addition to that of President Coolidge will probably be awarded, but the names of their recipients have not yet been announced.

GLEE CLUBS MEET IN JOINT CONCERT HERE

Annual Affair Given Before Distinguished Gathering; Both Clubs Well Received

George Washington and Columbia University vied for honors on the concert stage of the main ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel last night before an audience composed of men eminent in official circles of the Nation, members of the Faculty of the University, and a large gathering of the members of the student body and their guests.

The programs were rendered under the direction of Professor Walter Henry Hall of Columbia University, and Robert Harmon of George Washington. The separate numbers rendered by each club were well received and the numbers given in unison were heartily applauded by the very appreciative audience.

A number of selections were rendered by the George Washington Club quartet, composed of Edward Carey, first tenor; Carr Ferguson, second tenor; James McLain, baritone; and Elmer Gorn, bass. Several solos were rendered by individual members of each club.

The joint concert was sponsored by the local Alumni Association of Columbia University in cooperation with the officers of the George Washington club. This same organization was responsible for the successful joint appearance of the two clubs last year.

This year the affair received the unqualified endorsement of the Interfraternity Council, each fraternity taking a box and being well represented on this occasion.

The concert began at 8:30 o'clock and was followed by dancing from ten until one to music furnished by Sidney's Mayflower Orchestra.

PAN-HEL WILL HOLD TEA DANCE IN CORCORAN HALL

Plans for the Pan-Hel Tea Dance to be held on the ninth of February were brought to a culmination with the engaging of the Dagmair Band to furnish the music, the committee in charge announces. The dance is to be held in Corcoran Hall 1, from 4 until 7 o'clock.

President and Mrs. Marvin have been asked to be patron and patroness, and Dean and Mrs. Doyle, Dean Rose and Miss Jones to be chaperones.

The price of admission is to be $1.00 a couple or stag, as announced by Julia Denning, chairman of the committee. Kitty Beall and Margaret Rees are assisting Julia Denning with the arrangements.

WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1929

THE PRESIDENT'S PRESENCE

The President of these United States is on the twenty-second of February to receive a degree from the University which bears the name and which is the result of the dream of the first President of the United States.

At the first commencement of the University, then "The Columbian College," held December 15, 1824, the President of the United States, members of his Cabinet, and the Marquis de la Fayette were present. It was in recognition of the fact that George Washington bequeathed certain shares of stock for the endowment of a university to be established within the limits of the District of Columbia that the name of the Columbian University was changed to The George Washington University.

The fact that the President is to receive a doctorate on Washington's Birthday is, to the individual who happens to be University-minded, a significant and satisfying fact. G. W. is maintaining contact with the center of events in the nation.

SPHINX SPEAKS

Members of the Sphinx Honor Society, in a recent meeting, unanimously voted to take a step which will make Sphinx an organization unique on the George Washington University campus. Sphinx is an organization founded to promote and recognize high scholarship among the women of the University and a high scholastic average is the main requirement for election to the society. But participation and prominence in extracurricular activities hitherto have also been important considerations for election. At the last meeting, however, the undergraduate members determined to clarify the issues of eligibility and to crystallize, and announce their conception of the purposes and objectives of the society in relation to the old question of activities versus grades. It was unanimously decided to raise the scholastic average and to consider for membership women who have not participated to any great extent in college activities if these students seem to possess the qualities of character and leadership, which Sphinx tries to achieve.

The choice between high grades and numerous activities is as old as the first activity, and it is a choice that becomes more poignant every year. Any decision as to the object on which a girl wants to concentrate her energies is absolutely and entirely her own business, and no member of Sphinx feels herself capable of arbitrating the question of the superiority of the "grind" or the "activity hound." The society as a whole believes that the student who soberly tries to balance her life, to mingle activities and scholastic effort in the proportion that for her means success in both lines of endeavor, is the student who learns something of the business and the art of living.

But Sphinx feels that among the women students as a whole there is a definite division into two camps—the girls who place activities above grades and the girls who place grades above activities, and rarely the twain do meet. There are societies whose purpose is to recognize and reward prominence in activities. There are societies whose objectives are purely social. Sphinx, however, chooses to feel that it will be honored in honoring the women who have chosen to follow the quiet and austere ways of scholarship.

WELL, it's all over for another semester, and we're either back again or not, depending on how Lady Luck or honest effort served us during the last fateful week of the term. The unfamiliar air of concentrated study has been displaced by the normal one of care free "campus-ing," and a round of post-exam social events have been held or scheduled.

Incoming freshmen will be entertained at a tea under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. in the Women's Building from 5:00 to 6:00 o'clock on February 6. The tea is an attempt on the part of the September freshmen to bring the mid-year students into closer touch with the activities of the University.

The Y. W. C. A. will meet in Room 17, Corcoran Hall, on Thursday, February 14. Sarah Reed, Chairman of the Program Committee, has announced that a special speaker will address the gathering. Luncheon at the price of twenty-five cents per plate will be served immediately following the meeting and in ample time to permit the girls to reach their one o'clock classes. Girls planning to attend the luncheon should make reservations at the Y. W. C. A. rooms on Tuesday, February 12, between 12:00 and 12:30 o'clock.

Changing Horses

At the portals of our large cities—New York, Baltimore, Detroit, and soon Cleveland—a semaphore halts a luxurious flyer drawn by a puffing steam engine. A simple switching maneuver, and electricity takes charge. A giant electric locomotive, quickly under way, glides silently into the home stretch with its long string of Pullmans.

Like a thoroughbred it makes the run—tirelessly. Passengers alight in a clean terminal—clean because there is no smoke or soot.

Another milestone in transportation—another event in the life of the iron horse!

Civilization is progressing, with electricity in the van. How far this advance will take us, is a problem for our future leaders. It is for them to develop and utilize new applications of electricity—the force that is pointing the way over uncharted courses, not only in railroading, but in every phase of progress.

The G-E monogram is found on large electric locomotives and on MAZDA lamps, electric vacuum cleaners, and a multitude of other appliances which serve us all. It is the mark of an organization that is dedicated to the cause of electrical progress.

G. W. FIVE LOSES ALL OF SEASON'S OPENING GAMES

American U., Baltimore, Navy And Gallaudet Take Measure Of Colonials

BUFF AND BLUE UNABLE TO STAND HECTIC PACE

Crummen Crumple Before Opponents During Last Half In Three Of First Four Games

Although showing frequent flashes of brilliancy, the George Washington basketball team has yet to win a game, dropping its first four starts. The closest they have come to winning was last Saturday night, when with only two minutes to play they were trailing the Gallaudet College five by only three points. However, the Silents rang up seven more points in the remaining time and erased whatever hope the Colonials might have had of annexing their first win.

Probably the underlying reason for the early season failures is the inability of the team to finish a contest as strong as it starts. On every occasion, with the exception of the Navy game, the G. W. five has started out exceptionally strong in the first half, only to crumple up and fall before their opponents' onslaught in the final stanza. The team has seemed unable to stand the hectic pace which it itself has set in the opening minutes and has allowed the opposing quintet to play rings around it during the last ten minutes. Especially was this true in the season's inaugural with American U. when the half-time score read, 15-12, in the Methodists' favor. During the last half, however, the Colonials were completely routed, scoring only one point while the winners rang up eighteen. Again in the Baltimore U. contest, the Orioles only accumulated the winning margin in the late stages of the game, after a bitterly fought first half.

Navy Game An Exception

In only one game have the Buff and Blue players started out slowly. That was in the contest at Annapolis when the G. W. courtmen looked absolutely "dead" at the very outset. They allowed the Middies' second team to run away with things throughout the first twenty minutes only to come back in the second half and play them practically point for point, being outscores only two points during the final half.

Pianist All "Encore" for This Smoke

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

Dear Friends:

I have been a very heavy pipe smoker for the last thirty years, and have always used Edgeworth Tobacco (Plug Slice) and find there is no other tobacco like it for a cool and well flavored taste.

I am in the vaudeville business, and have traveled all over the world with my brother, and always have had very great pleasure in recommending your tobacco; and many a time I have had to pay double the price in different countries for it, but I would sooner do that than smoke anything else, as I have tried all different brands. I generally buy a one-pound tin and roll it up; and believe me, gentlemen, it is real tobacco.

With best wishes from

Yours sincerely,

It is this tendency to "play themselves out," which has probably caused the undoing of the Colonial basketballers. If a happy medium could be found between the customary first half "rushes" and the "slow" start of the Navy contest, the team would perhaps be able to maintain its maximum efficiency throughout. Until that time, however, G. W. fans must not count a game as "in" until the final whistle blows.

Drop Close One to Gallaudet

In the closest game they have played so far, the George Washington five was licked by the Gallaudet quint last Saturday night in the H Street gym by a 39-29 count. Not until the last two minutes of the fray were the final winners able to establish their supremacy, being matched point for point by the losers throughout. However, with the score 32-29 and two minutes to play, the Silents rang up three field goals and a foul shot to assure their triumph by placing themselves ten points in the lead.

The entire game was closely played with the Colonials overcoming a ten-point lead in the first half to pass the Silents in their drive. With the score 12-2 against them, the Buff and Blue started an attack which culminated in a 16-14 advantage for them before the Silents called for time out. During the onslaught, Bill Snow played an important part, ringing up four baskets from either right under the basket or from the side of the court. However, the Silents apparently caught their breath after their brief rest and scored two more baskets before the whistle blew, to gain an 18-17 lead at half-time.

The second half provided thrilling entertainment with the Colonials right on the heels of their opponents although never catching up to them. Until the final two minutes the Silents were never more than five points ahead. The Silents opened the scoring after the intermission with a field goal, but Snow came right back with a double decker to put his team within one point of the opposition. Two more fouls and a field goal then gave Gallaudet a five-point lead before Allshouse could score a foul try for G. W. Gallaudet then scored another two-pointer but G. W. came within two points of the leaders on two goals by Johnny Thacker and "Red" Allshouse.

After Allshouse had made good on a technical foul, he came through with a two-pointer which made the score read 27-28. Each side then scored a goal. Gallaudet then scored another one to give them a three-point advantage. Time out was called by G. W. and when play was resumed, there were only two minutes left to play. What happened in the remaining time has already been told.

Bow to Navy

After a terrible first half, in which they looked absolutely "dead" on their feet, the George Washington basketballers came back after the intermission to match the Naval Academy five point for point during the final period in a game played at Annapolis last Wednesday. By virtue of the 24-6 lead accumulated in the opening stanza however, the Middies were not forced to exert themselves and were content simply to match the Buff and Blue in the scoring, coming out on top by a 40-20 score.

At the outset, the Buff and Blue looked almost afraid of their more renowned opponents. The quick, flashy start of former games was missing but the other extreme was noticeable. Before the Colonials knew what it was all about, the Middies had run up an 8-0 lead and from then on, the final decision was never in doubt.

During the intermission, however, Coach Crum must have given his boys some sound advice, as they came back strong in the second half. After the Navy had run the count to 29-8, the "Sailors' regulars" were called in. Up until this time, only the Academy's second stringers had been in action. It was at this point that the Buff and Blue came to life.

Disregarding the presence of the so-called "regulars" the D. C. team opened up its attack and before the astonished first team had found itself, had scored twelve points to make the score read 30-20. Bill Snow, was prominent in this attack, scoring three baskets against the Navy team. In fact, so badly did the Crummen outplay the Navy regulars, that the Middle coach was forced to recall his "second stringers" who were on their way to the showers.

For the Colonials, Snow again led the attack with three field goals and a foul shot. Irvin Fine, who was in the thick of the fight throughout, also took a hand in the scoring, counting three double deckers for his team. The little newcomer was constantly opposed by bigger men, but always managed to shake himself loose on his rampage to the basket.

Baltimore Downs Colonials

In the last game before examinations, played on Saturday, January 19, the George Washington basketballers dropped their second game of the season to the fast Baltimore University quint by a score of 32-27.

As in their inaugural, the Colonials showed a distinct weakness in being unable to stand the gaff after the rest period. At half time, the Orioles were only leading by three points but literally ran away with things during the second half. Although the Colonials did draw within five points of their opponents they were unable to gain the lead during the latter part of the game and the ultimate winners always held the upper hand.

The Colonials were materially weakened early in the fray, when Bobby Gray, usually dependable

SQUAD IS CHOSEN FOR BASKETBALL

Twenty-Three Co-Eds Picked As Promising Material For Varsity Squad

THREE GAMES SCHEDULED

Varsity Squad Practice is Held on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 1:00 to 2:00

Women's varsity basketball season opened on January 30, when the first regular practice of the varsity squad was held in the University gymnasium, under the supervision of Miss Eugenia Davis, coach.

Five varsity players of last year are back in the running, including Naomi Crumley, captain, and Althea Lawton, both forwards; Jenny Turner, half, side-center; and Betty Zimmerman and Evelyn Folsom, guards. The 1928 team suffered serious loss by the graduation of Louise Omwake, star center; Winifred Paunce, and Betty Brandenburg, guards.

The squad, as picked by Miss Eugenia Davis, coach, consists of twenty-three members out of the most promising material in the basketball classes.

Twenty-three Members

Members of the varsity squad are as follows: Forwards, Althea Lawton, Naomi Crumley, Martha Bengenson, Roberta Wright, Marion Lum, Louise Berryman and Cary Aal, centers and side-centers, Jenny Turner, Julie Denning, Dorothy Albert, Mary Sproul, Catherine Palmer, Rosalie Reed, Josephine Irey, and Lillian Breckenridge; guards, Betty Zimmerman, Evelyn Folsom, Mary Ewin, Catherine McCallum, Mary Detwiler, Jean Sime, Edith McCoy, and Helen Jacobs.

Maxine Alverson, varsity manager for the 1929 team, is assisted by Mary Sproul, Naomi Kanoff, Ida Horne, Frances Kahn, Cary Aal, and Margaret Monk.

Regular varsity practice is held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 1:00 to 2:00 o'clock, in addition to the regular basketball classes given on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 2:00 to 4:00 and on Tuesdays and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:00.

Varsity Schedule

The George Washington schedule plans the first game of the season for February 21, when the co-eds meet the American University basketballers in the home gymnasium. Last year American U. was beaten to the tune of 52-16.

On March 2, the Hatchettes will play William and Mary at Williamsburg, and Swarthmore, March 15, at their gym.

guard, was guilty of fouling three times and removed from the game by Coach Crum. It was the first time that Gray had found himself on the bench by this method and was a novel experience to the brilliant player who usually managed to play through an entire game without a foul being called upon him. It was apparent that his absence hindered the team considerably, although Lamphere, his substitute, showed up well in his baptism of fire.

Lose Opener to A. U.

Opening the season, against the highly touted American University Methodists on January 16, the George Washington Colonials found the going a bit too rough for them in the second half and succumbed to their more experienced opponents, 33-12. After the first half, in which the score was fairly close, the Buff and Blue was unable to keep up with their opponents and scored only one point throughout the entire second half, that a foul by Bobby Gray.

Contrary to the expectations of basketball fans, the G. W. five kept step with the Methodists throughout the first twenty minutes. Although conceded only the slimmest chance for a victory, the Hatchettes made it appear that the "dope" might receive a big upset early in the season. The Buff and Blue was at the heels of the Methodists throughout the first part of the game and the A. U. rooters were strangely surprised at the treatment handed their favorites.

With Allshouse and Barrow doing most of the scoring, the Crummen kept step with the Methodists throughout the first half which ended 15-11 in the Eagles' favor. The ultimate winners were unable to gain more than a 4-point lead at any time during the initial twenty minutes and the G. W. team looked to be on a par with their haughty opponents.

The second half was quite different, however, and proved to be a complete rout for the green George Washington five. Throughout the period, the Colonials were unable to score at all from the floor and their sole point came as the result of a foul goal by Bobby Gray.

FROSH COURTMEN WIN THREE GAMES

Central High Only Team To Take Measure of Yearling Quintet

WIN BY GOOD MARGINS

Reserves of Gallaudet, American U., and Hyattsville High Are Victims

The frosh basketballers have won three of their last four starts to acquire a winning percentage of .830. Gallaudet reserves, Hyattsville High School, and American University reserves fell before the freshmen by 20-12, 46-34, and 19-15, scores, while Central High administered the only defeat to the yearlings, 37-27.

After trailing Gallaudet reserves for a half, the first year men counted three quick baskets to take a slender lead, which they maintained to the final whistle. Fast-moving defenses by both teams kept the score 6-4 in favor of the visitors at half, but an offensive drive immediately after intermission that netted eight baskets to two for the visitors carried the yearlings out in front.

Jeweler led both teams in scoring by sinking four two-pointers for eight points.

In the game with Hyattsville High, the freshmen took an early lead and stayed out in front throughout.

The ability to sift through a rival zone defense and Ginberg's working of the "block" play gave the frosh their margin of victory.

Veneman, center, who swished five shots from the center of the floor, and Jarrell, forward, with three double-deckers, kept the visitors in running.

The sniping of Braght, Central's forward, ran up enough points in the first half to break the zone defense of the freshmen and place his team ahead, never to be headed. During this half, the Blue and White forwards scored 17 points between them, and Fisher, when inserted in the second half, carried on this offense with three more tosses from the field and a foul.

The nearness of the score at all points and the many changes in the lead added interest to a closely played game in which the frosh conquered the A. U. reserves.

Only at one time did the first year men show a marked superiority, but Cagliola tossed in four straight field goals to tie the score again. At this point the freshmen forged ahead again and froze the ball until the final whistle.

Perry led his mates in solving the visitors, defense with two field goals and two charity tosses.

COLONIALS MEET TWO MORE FIVES

Davis-Elkins and Bucknell Invade H Street Gym For Games

NEXT GAME ON SATURDAY

Poor Record Caused "By Late Start In Training, Handicapping Team"

Two first class basketball teams will be entertained by the George Washington courtmen within the next week when Davis-Elkins comes here for a game with the G. W. quint next Saturday night and Bucknell is entertained in the H Street gym next Tuesday night. Both of these quint possess enviable records this season and should provide stiff opposition for the Buff and Blue basketballers.

Although not realized by most fans, the George Washington basketball team is always handicapped by a late start every year. Unlike most institutions, the G. W. courtmen are unable to start training until the middle of December, whereas in most colleges, courtmen are called out about the first of November. This probably accounts for the failure of the team so far in the campaign. In stacking-up against opponents they are most always facing a five which has about a month's training advantage. George Washington is one of the few schools in which the football coach likewise handles the basketball team and on account of this it is unable to get started in the court game until after the gridiron campaign is over.

Crum Working Hard With Team

Notwithstanding, Coach "Maud" Crum has devoted himself earnestly to the preparation of both teams and is giving all his time to the business of making G. W. well represented on the basketball floor as well as the gridiron. However, the "popular mentor" was unable to get started with his court aspirants until the middle of December, as not only two of the five are football players, but he himself had not time for the court training on account of football. Even after the training started, moreover, the basketballers were called home by the Christmas recess and were idle for two weeks. When they did come back, it was almost the same as starting all over and the boys went into the first game of the season with only a week's practice.

After the Bucknell game next Tuesday night, the Crummen will rest until the following Friday when they entertain the Virginia Medical College in the "tin tabernacle." Following that, the boys will prepare for their annual trip out to Catholic University where they are due to stack up against the C. U. Cardinals on Wednesday, February 20. In view of the Cardinals' poor season, the Crummen are hopeful of taking both games from their arch rivals this year, but it remains to be seen whether they can win a game themselves or not.

Rest of Schedule Announced

St. Francis College comes here for a game on February 23, and the Catholic U. game in the G. W. gym on March 2, will ring down the curtain on the present campaign.

The remainder of the schedule follows:

By STAGE DOOR JOHNNY

COLUMBIA—"Alias Jimmy Valentine"

William Haines in "Alias Jimmy Valentine" is the screen attraction at Loew's Columbia this week. The picture, produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, was adapted from the famous play of the same name that thrilled America in its day. It also contains dialogue and you hear William Haines speak for the first time in the moving pictures. Lella Hyams, "Hollywood's most beautiful blond," plays the leading feminine role, and Karl Dane and Tully Marshall have excellent characterizations, as fellow crooks of William Haines.

The story concerns the cleverness of Jimmy Valentine as a cracksmen—how he robs an express office and establishes an alibi. Lionel Barrymore as the detective is unable to pin the job on Jimmy, who then decides to go straight. He goes to a small town, where he is employed in the bank and wins promotion as well as the heart of the daughter of the bank president. One day his sweetheart's small sister is locked in the bank's vault. No one can open it but Jimmy. To open it, however, would reveal to Doyle, who is still on his track that he is a cracksmen. He decides to save the child's life and opens the safe. Doyle is convinced that the young man is really going straight and does not arrest him.

An interesting addition to the feature picture is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer synchronized, with sound and dialogue presentation of the flight of the Graf Zeppelin from Germany to the United States. The picture is in three reels and is said to be a thrilling record of the flight as reported by Lady Drummond Hayes, the only woman passenger aboard the craft. The Fox Movietone News, the M-G-M News and the Columbia Orchestra rounds out the program.

EARLE—"Scarlet Seas"

Richard Barthelmess is the star of the program at the Earle Theater this week, east as the man who strolled into the crater of madness and death, and emerged with an inner renaissance; the girl is Betty Compson. "Scarlet Seas" is the feature picture, was written as an original screen story by Scott Darling. The bulk of the picture was filmed at sea. There is said to be a thought in "Scarlet Seas," a thought that deals with the regeneration of a man's soul.

The story concerns Steve Donkin, who roamed the Seven Seas and took what he wanted where he found it. When he shanghaied a girl and took her to sea with him; when the ship burned and the two were left alone and adrift in a lifeboat. Then death stared them in the face and hunger tested their faith in life and himself; a rescue (the strangest ever screened) was effected. These are the high lights of "Scarlet Seas."

FOX—"The Little Wildcat"

Two sisters love the same man in "The Little Wildcat," the one a Cinderella, the other the wildest, in the story of the Warner Brothers Vitaphone talking picture, shown at the Fox Theater this week. It is true comedy depicted by a talented cast, including George Fawcett and Robert Edeson, together with Doris Dawson, Audrey Ferris, James Murray and several other Warner stars.

The picture is said to be strictly modern and to move in a fast tempo, with novel dialogue sequences that enhance rather than retard the action. On the stage the Fox Vanities are offered, presenting a flash of gray color, laughter, song and dance by stars such as Little Sunshine Sammy of "Our Gang" comedies and his two brothers; Chaz Chase, an eccentric comedian; the Lathrop Brothers, dancing marvels; Hines and Leonard, two youthful girls; Elray and Cooper, from the Broadway revues; Frankel, O'Dair and Davis and a trio of dancers from Roxy's Gang. Last is a new importation, The Fox Boys and Girls Ensemble Dancers.

METROPOLITAN—"The Redeeming Sin"

Paris is and will always be the city of romance and mystery. The Parisian underworld is the scene of "The Redeeming Sin," Warner Bros.' latest Vitaphone special, and this week's feature at Crandall's Metropolitan. In it Dolores Costello is starred as Joan Villaire, a dancer in a Montmartre cafe, a glittering, tempestuous creature, as willing to fight as to trip the light fantastic—and the passionate protector of a small brother Petite, who, without Joan's knowledge, is being trained by Mitzl, an Apache girl in the art of thieving. Leteur, a thief, dominates Joan's life, in so far as it can be dominated. He it is who accidentally shoots Petite. A young doctor, who has come to practice among the poor, is called in and the course of Joan's life is changed. The doctor, waylaid by the jealous Leteur and his followers—after the death of Petite—is wounded and tossed into the sewers of Paris, from which, however, he is finally rescued.

PALACE—"The Awakening"

Vilma Banky in her first starring picture, "The Awakening," is the screen attraction at Loew's Palace this week. In this latest United Artists' synchronized picture Miss Banky is supported by Walter Byron and Louis Wolheim.

The story concerns the acknowledged beauty and idol of a village, whose love is sought by Von Hagen, a cavalry officer, who is in the village with his troops. He is on the verge of success when he discovers that he really does love the girl. In the meantime, the people of the village having seen Marie enter the quarters of the officer, assume that she has done wrong and drive her from the village. Von Hagen has made the discovery of his real love too late as the girl cannot be found. During the war in the midst of a heavy bombardment, however, he meets the girl, who is in a convent, about to become a nun. She refuses to listen to his pleading to go with him, but when he is brought back wounded she decides she does love him, and with the aid of Louis Wolheim, whose hand she has spurned, her lover is saved and they are left in their happiness.

On the stage Wesley Eddy and the Palace Syncopators are presented in Boris Petroff's Loew-Publix production, "Barcelona," featuring Jack North with his ukulele, Billy Gilbert and his violin, Joe and Jane McKenna, dancers; Renee and Evelyn, tan-goists; Borge Moller, accordionist, and the Dorothy Berke Dancers. Added attractions include the M-G-M News, the Fox Movietone News the Palace Orchestra, Charles Gage at the organ, and selected short subjects.

C. D. S. ELECTION TO BE ON FEB. 8

Debating Society to Elect Six New Officers For Second Semester

CRUISER BILL IS DEBATED

Laughlin Single Handed Presents Constructive Arguments in Favor of Resolution

The semestral election of Columbian Debating Society will be held on Friday evening, February 8, 1929.

The new officers to be elected are president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, critic and debating council representative.

Charles V. Laughlin is the present president of the society. The other officers are: Lionel C. Stukes, vice president; James G. Wingo, secretary; C. T. Shanner, treasurer; Karl Frisbie, critic, and Marie G. Nold, debating council representative.

Laughlin May Be Re-elected

Since it is a Columbia tradition to have the officers of the first semester re-elected, Laughlin stands a good chance to succeed himself in the second semester.

About forty members will be present Friday evening to exercise their voting privileges. Many students are expected to become members when the society will have its first meeting in the second semester.

Cruiser Bill Debated

On Friday evening, January 18, the question, "Resolved, That this house indorses the present cruiser bill now before the Senate," was debated in the society. The house voted overwhelmingly in favor of the resolution. Charles V. Laughlin argued single handed for the affirmative side while Ralph Joyce and Douglas Hatch debated on the negative.

Prizes Offered For Business Assistants

Contest to Secure Advertising For University Publications to Open Shortly

Prizes for both men and women will be awarded to students who are the winners in a contest to secure advertising for George Washington publications, according to Frank Kreglow, General Business Manager. This contest will open shortly.

Those securing advertisements will receive points for work done in addition to the usual ten per cent commission allowed, and since the field of advertising prospects has been only partially covered, the opportunities for both cash and prizes are good. Moreover, positions on the various business staffs are given to those who excel in getting advertisements.

Further information will be published in the next issue of The Hatchet, and questions will be answered on the matter by the General Business Manager, who will be in The Hatchet office at noon on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.
